

GEN. MITCHELL OF THE AIR SERVICE IS DEMOTED

NOT RE-APPOINTED ASSISTANT CHIEF OF THE AIR SERVICE

WEEKS RECOMMENDS FOR APPOINTMENT LIEUT. COL. JAMES E. FECHET

LATTER IS A VETERAN OF THE SPANISH-AMERICAN WAR

(By United Press)
Washington, March 6.—Brigadier General Mitchell, Assistant Chief of the Air Service today was reduced to the rank of colonel when Secretary of War Weeks failed to re-appoint him to his post for a new term beginning April 27.

Weeks recommended to the president the appointment of Lieutenant-Colonel James E. Fechet to succeed Mitchell.

The president had already announced that he would appoint whom ever Secretary Weeks recommended for the post.

Fechet is commander of the air service at Kelly Field, Texas. Mitchell today was at Fort Monroe, Virginia, aiding in the placing of air planes.

Colonel Mitchell was appointed assistant to the chief of the air service on July 1, 1920, with temporary rank of Brigadier-General largely on the basis of his record as a flying commander during the war in France. During the last months of the war he was chief of the air service group of the Army having risen rapidly from a military observer and aviation officer in 1917 to chief of the air service, first of the zone of advance, later of the first corps, then of the first army and finally of the entire group of the army.

He entered the service as a private in the West Point volunteers in the Spanish War. In 1901 he was appointed a First Lieutenant of the signal corp. The distinguished service cross was given him for "repeated acts of extraordinary heroism in action" in France, and also the distinguished service medal.

Mitchell is expected to be assigned to the command of a flying field away from Washington. Few believe that his punishment will deter him from carrying out his fight for a uniform air service.

Mitchell has three years' more service before him before he is eligible for retirement after thirty years' service. He has told friends that if it is at all possible it is his desire to stick it out these three years.

The demotion of Mitchell followed strong controversy over the air policy of the government which took place principally before the House air craft investigation.

Mitchell carried his fight into high places, attacking not only his superiors, but five naval officers, including Secretary of the Navy Wilbur. His conduct evoked strong criticism from Secretary Weeks, and each frequently denied the other's statements. Some sort of punishment for Mitchell was considered inevitable early in the controversy when he went rough shod himself over instead of through his superiors. There even was talk of his court martial for insubordination, though this has died down.

During the world war he was in command of various flying fields. He was air service officer of the Superior Department from May, 1919, to September, 1920, when he was assigned to the chief of the air service as chief of trading and operation group and last as chief of the war plane post.

Fechet was born in Texas in 1877 and is a veteran of the Spanish-American war.

30 ARMY AIRPLANES IN BOMBING TEST

Fortress Monroe, Va., March 6.—Thirty army airplanes dropping 100 pound bombs containing ten pounds of explosive each demonstrated a theatrical bombing of a battleship of canvas on a field here today.

Brigadier-General Mitchell, assistant chief of the army air service in another plane directed the bombing experiment and added attraction to the anti-aircraft demonstration arranged by the war department for

(By United Press)
Williamsport, Ind., March 6.—Six persons were killed here today when their automobile was struck by a cut-off freight car. The dead were Mrs. Ruby Bodine, 26, Williamsport; Mrs. Clara Hurd, 21, cousin of Mrs. Bodine, Merryville, Ind.; Gertrude Bodine, 5; Mabel Bodine, 3; Fred Bodine, Jr., 19 months; Ellsworth Bodine, 6 months. The children were sons and daughters of Mrs. Bodine.

EDITORS BACK FARM BUREAU

FARM GROUPS PLEASED AT THE SPIRIT OF HELPFULNESS PLEDGED

The Farm Bureau feels extremely grateful to the Minnesota Editorial Association for the splendid recognition accorded by that great body at its 59th annual convention in St. Paul on Feb. 20 to 21.

Farm Bureau publicity was given an important place in the program of the convention and was discussed from all angles by the editors and the publicity directors for the bureau which gave a splendid opportunity to explain some of the main features of the work of the bureau and the co-operative organizations before the most influential group in the state.

As a result of the discussion the convention voted an indorsement of the Farm Bureau and its policies and pledged its continued support to the bureau and the co-operative marketing associations for the future the same as in the past. It was further voted to have a standing committee of the editorial association appointed to co-operate with the Farm Bureau and co-operative organizations during the year with a view to developing farm and co-operative marketing advertising and publicity which will be of mutual benefit to the newspapers and farm organizations. Under this arrangement an editorial spokesman will be furnished for Farm Bureau and co-operative meetings held in the state during the year.

The country newspapers of Minnesota have been loyal supporters of the Farm Bureau from the beginning and have given of their space without stint to keep their readers informed of the activities of the organization. They have done the same towards the co-operative marketing associations that have been fostered by the bureau. It is pleasing to the Farm Bureau, therefore, to know that there is to be complete teamwork between it and the editorial association during the coming year.

the benefit of the House air craft investigation committee. As Mitchell came down and stepped out of the plane, Lt. Moffatt, one of his associates, notified him he was to be superseded by Lieutenant-Colonel Fechet, as announced by Secretary of War Weeks today.

"I will abide by any decision of the War Department with regard to myself," was Mitchell's only comment.

TO BOMB DUMMY BATTLESHIP WITH PLANES

Fort Monroe, Va., March 6.—Army aviators sprang a sensation today before the air craft demonstration for high officials of Washington when they disclosed plans to bomb a dummy battleship. Unless heavy mists and strong winds interfere, however, the fliers are to stage it from high altitude on a mammoth canvas 600 feet long by 100 feet wide stretched out in the shape of a warship. Weather conditions, however, threaten the postponement of all demonstrations.

SPECIAL SESSION OF SENATE IS CLEARING SLATE

EXPECTS TO ADJOURN WITHIN TWO WEEKS IF POSSIBLE

HOT DEBATE EXPECTED OVER THE WARREN NOMINATION

(By United Press)
Washington, March 6.—The special session of the senate went to work today to clear its slate so it can adjourn within two weeks. Leaders believe that if the session drags out longer most senators not interested in pending matters will go home and the senate be forced into adjournment by a lack of a quorum.

For this reason they have advised against consideration of the world court resolution and may even drop the Lausanne Treaty.

The judiciary committee expected today to report out the nomination of Charles B. Warren to be attorney general. Hot debate is expected on the floor when its consideration is begun tomorrow. The committee on committees hopes to bring out new organization plans leaving the four ousted republican senators, LaFollette, Brookhart, Ladd and Frazier from the committee slate and this may participate a new battle on the floor. Senator Pepper, Pennsylvania republican and champion of the Isle of Pines Treaty with Cuba announced he probably would call the measure at session next Monday.

HOG GRADERS IN NEW MARK

(By United Press)
Chicago, March 6.—Hog graders made a new high record for the season at the Chicago stockyards today. Choice grade selling at $14.30.

$50,000 WORTH OF ALCOHOL IS TAKEN

CARLOAD OF 4,850 GALLONS SEIZED ON ARRIVAL IN RAIL YARDS

Minneapolis, March 6.—Federal agents in Minneapolis Wednesday night seized a carload of pure grain alcohol.

The seizure totaled 4,850 gallons, valued at bootleg prices in excess of $50,000.

Traced from Philadelphia through Chicago, the freight car containing the alcohol was boarded at Winona by three prohibition agents and "riden" to Minneapolis.

It was consigned as "synthetic indigo" to a fictitious Minneapolis dye house.

No claimants appeared upon its arrival.

It is probable the alcohol, contained in 70 55-gallon drums, will be "medicated" and sold under court order to wholesale drug firms.

SENATE JUDICIARY ACTS FAVORABLY ON WARREN NOMINATION

(By United Press)
Washington, March 6.—The nomination of Charles B. Warren of Michigan to be attorney general was again ordered favorably reported by the senate judiciary committee today. The action was taken without objection or a roll call.

BOK PEACE WINNER LOSES OTHER $50,000

New York, March 6.—Failure of the United States senate to adopt the Bok world peace plan during the 68th congress caused Dr. Charles Herbert Levermore, author of the plan, to lose his chance—technically at least—to gain the second award of $50,000 offered by Edward Bok. The first award of $50,000 was given Dr. Levermore upon acceptance of his plan by a special jury headed by Elihu Root.

Under the terms of the award it was necessary for the United States senate to have adopted the winning plan by March 4, 1925, before its author could receive the second half of the $100,000 award.

The peace plan was not introduced during the session of congress just closed.

CHAMBERLAIN GOES TO GENEVA CONFERENCE TODAY

WILL SPEND NIGHT AT BRITISH EMBASSY IN PARIS

WITH PREMIER HERRIOT WILL THEN CONTINUE JOURNEY

(By United Press)
London, March 6.—Austin Chamberlain, minister of foreign affairs, left today for Geneva, where it is expected he will prepare a series of interrogatories for the League of Nations. Chamberlain will spend the night at the British Embassy in Paris and then with Premier Herriot will continue his journey in the evening.

There is a possibility Chamberlain before leaving Paris will see the Polish Foreign Minister who is reported particularly opposed to the Geneva project.

St. Cloud Anticipating Vigorous Building Season

St. Cloud, Minn., March 6.—Prospects for an active building season in this city are reported very promising by local builders. Among the new structures costing $10,000 or more for which permits have already been secured are a three-story fireproof building for Theo. Sivinski & Co., to cost $45,000, a $20,000 residence for Dr. C. B. Lewis, a $10,000 home for Herbert Peters and a home of the same class for Albert Mutchler.

STERILIZATION BILL TO SENATE

MEASURE AFFECTING FEEBLE-MINDED PASSED BY HOUSE

St. Paul, March 6.—The bill for sterilization of feeble-minded and insane reached the state senate yesterday.

It passed the house by a vote of 86 to 34.

The measure was defeated at the last session after a number of hearings and lengthy debate. Three public hearings were held on it this year before the house committee on public welfare.

The house also passed a bill providing for an assignment clerk in the office of the Ramsey county district court clerk. The bill previously passed the senate and now goes to the governor for his signature.

Among bills introduced in the house was the one widely favored by attorneys providing for the organization of the State Bar association and creation of a board of governors to pass upon the conduct of lawyers. Rep. Albin S. Pearson, St. Paul, chairman, house judiciary committee, and other attorneys in the house are authors of the bill.

MAY CARRY SENATE CHANGE RULES TO NATION

VICE PRESIDENT DAWES UNMOVED BY CRITICAL RECEPTION

WILL HAVE COMEBACK IN TALKS HE WILL MAKE THROUGHOUT COUNTY

(By United Press)
Washington, March 6.—Vice President Charles G. Dawes may carry his demand for revision of senate rules to the country. Unmoved by the hazing he has been subjected to, Dawes through the summer may deliver a series of speeches to explain his stand. He has been moved by commendation he has received from governmental officials, members of the House of Representatives and in telegrams from citizens over the country.

A vice president is expected to fill speaking engagements which the president cannot attend and which the president feels should be filled. This will give Dawes his chance to come back. He is not permitted to speak in the senate under the rules.

At present Dawes has no intention of answering his critics because he does not wish to be placed in the position of seeking publicity.

Open, hostile warfare over the matter is not expected to continue in the senate. Future skirmishing probably will be conducted in a milder manner. Such hazings as Dawes continues to receive will be grounded on his unfamiliarity with the rules which will give his critics plenty of openings.

WHEAT MARKET IS FEVERISH

MAY WHEAT AND RYE TUMBLE IN MILL CITY MARKET

(By United Press)
Minneapolis, March 6.—Feverish activities were displayed on the Minneapolis wheat market floor today as May wheat tumbled 10½¢ to a low of $1.72½.

Opening at $1.82, off a point from Thursday's close, wheat sold down sharply to $1.75 7-8 at noon. Between noon and 1 p. m. it broke to $1.72½.

Rye followed, tumbling from $1.49 3-4 to $1.42. Traders believe that today's drop constituted a record single day's break.

DAWES MUST REMAIN QUIET FOR 4 YEARS

Washington, March 6.—Vice President Dawes has made his first and last address to the senate, at least during the present term.

The very rules of the senate, which "Hell and Maria" so vigorously assailed in his inaugural address, bar him from further utterance except in the regular course of his duties as presiding officer.

No provision is made for him to speak on any subject except interpretation and enforcement of procedure. The only chance he ever will get again to make a speech to the body is in the event he is re-elected in 1928 for another term.

EXTRA PAYMENT FOR POSTAL EMPLOYEES DISBURSED MARCH 14

(By United Press)
Washington, March 6.—Extra payment for postal employees for the period since January 1 provided by the postal salary increase act will be paid out March 14, Postmaster General New announced after the cabinet meeting at the White House today. The postal act provides that the increase in salary shall be retroactive to the first of the year.

RADIO STATION AT DEPOT OPENS MAY 1

COST OF WCCO BROADCASTING STUDIO SET AT TWENTY THOUSAND DOLLARS

St. Paul, March 6.—St. Paul is definitely assured that the Gold Medal radio station is a truly St. Paul-Minneapolis station.

Foster Hannaford, St. Paul member of the board of control, today so characterized the announcement that plans have been completed for a big St. Paul studio in the concourse of the Union station.

"With the erection of the studio in the Union depot," Mr. Hannaford said, "St. Paul is definitely assured that the Gold Medal station is truly a St. Paul-Minneapolis station. The location of the studio is the result of several months of study and was arrived at as absolutely ideal."

"The first of May should find the studio in operation, the opening of which will be a gala event in the history of the city."

Preliminary estimates of the cost of the studio place this as between $10,000 and $20,000. It will be erected at the end of the concourse, with heavy, soundproof glass walls on two sides, to allow visitors to see the artists and operation of the station.

Lambert Bassindale, Capital bank building, has been selected as architect for the structure.

MILL CITY STUDIO FORMALLY OPENED

Minneapolis, March 6.—The Minneapolis studio of the Gold Medal station was formally opened Wednesday night.

The studio is on the roof of the Nicollet hotel, and is declared to be the finest broadcasting studio in the country. Thousands of people attended the formal opening, passing around the glass enclosed studios, viewing the artists at work, and hearing the broadcast programs.

More than 300 artists, including members of orchestras, bands, and singing organizations, took part in the opening program. The studio was opened by a speech by Gov. Theodore Christianson, following which the members of the station staff were introduced to the radio audience.

Ring Lardner Says Great Britain Has Foolish Dry Laws

Americans are not the only people who laugh at other lands and overlook absurdities at home. The English are subject to the same failing, according to Ring Lardner, writing in this week's Liberty concerning his impressions of the other side.

"During our stay in London the local talent kidded us quite a bit in regards to what is laughingly called prohibition," he says. ### RIVERTON MINE NEAR SPRINGFIELD DISASTER SCENE

ONE HUNDRED MEN IN SHAFT WHEN EXPLOSION OCCURRED

ALL BUT 17 WERE REPORTED AS BEING BROUGHT TO SAFETY

(By United Press)
Springfield, Ill., March 6.—Seventeen men are trapped in the Peabody Mine at Riverton, a mining town near here following a blast dam explosion today. One hundred men were in the shaft when the explosion occurred and all but seventeen were brought to safety.

Only meager details of the explosion were obtained when all telegraph and telephone wires between here and Riverton were put out of commission.

OFFICIALS HAVE NO NEWS OF EXPLOSION

Chicago, March 6.—Officials of the Peabody Coal Company, owners of the Peabody Mine at Riverton, today told the United Press they had received no news of the explosion from mine officials, but expressed fear large loss of life would follow a powerful blast.

UNCONFIRMED REPORTS SAY THE 17 ESCAPED

Springfield, March 6.—Later unconfirmed reports were that 17 men escaped the blast and came to the surface.

17 OVERCOME BY BAD AIR, RESCUED

Springfield, Ill., March 6.—Seventeen men overcome by bad air were rescued today from the Peabody Mine at Riverton, a mining town near here after report of an explosion had been circulated near the shaft. Presence of the bad air in the shaft is believed due to a "widly shot" last night in which a shot firer was overcome. The 17 left in the mine following escape of 83 of their companions were carried to the surface.

DAWES MUST REMAIN QUIET FOR 4 YEARS

Washington, March 6.—Vice President Dawes has made his first and last address to the senate, at least during the present term.

The very rules of the senate, which "Hell and Maria" so vigorously assailed in his inaugural address, bar him from further utterance except in the regular course of his duties as presiding officer.

No provision is made for him to speak on any subject except interpretation and enforcement of procedure. The only chance he ever will get again to make a speech to the body is in the event he is re-elected in 1928 for another term.

GLORIA SWANSON LEAVES HOSPITAL, GOES TO VERSAILLES

(By United Press)
Paris, March 6.—Gloria Swanson, American movie star, today was discharged from the hospital to which she had been confined with a serious illness nearly four weeks. She has gone to Versailles for a brief vacation and plans to sail for New York March 18.

EXTRA PAYMENT FOR POSTAL EMPLOYEES DISBURSED MARCH 14

(By United Press)
Washington, March 6.—Extra payment for postal employees for the period since January 1 provided by the postal salary increase act will be paid out March 14, Postmaster General New announced after the cabinet meeting at the White House today. The postal act provides that the increase in salary shall be retroactive to the first of the year.

RADIO STATION AT DEPOT OPENS MAY 1

COST OF WCCO BROADCASTING STUDIO SET AT TWENTY THOUSAND DOLLARS

St. Paul, March 6.—St. Paul is definitely assured that the Gold Medal radio station is a truly St. Paul-Minneapolis station.

Foster Hannaford, St. Paul member of the board of control, today so characterized the announcement that plans have been completed for a big St. Paul studio in the concourse of the Union station.

"With the erection of the studio in the Union depot," Mr. Hannaford said, "St. Paul is definitely assured that the Gold Medal station is truly a St. Paul-Minneapolis station. The location of the studio is the result of several months of study and was arrived at as absolutely ideal."

Preliminary estimates of the cost of the studio place this at between $10,000 and $20,000. It will be erected at the end of the concourse, with heavy, soundproof glass walls on two sides, to allow visitors to see the artists and operation of the station.

Lambert Bassindale, Capital bank building, has been selected as architect for the structure.

MILL CITY STUDIO FORMALLY OPENED

Minneapolis, March 6.—The Minneapolis studio of the Gold Medal station was formally opened Wednesday night.

The studio is on the roof of the Nicollet hotel, and is declared to be the finest broadcasting studio in the country. Thousands of people attended the formal opening, passing around the glass enclosed studios, viewing the artists at work, and hearing the broadcast programs.

More than 300 artists, including members of orchestras, bands, and singing organizations, took part in the opening program. The studio was opened by a speech by Gov. Theodore Christianson, following which the members of the station staff were introduced to the radio audience.

Ring Lardner Says Great Britain Has Foolish Dry Laws

Americans are not the only people who laugh at other lands and overlook absurdities at home. The English are subject to the same failing, according to Ring Lardner, writing in this week's Liberty concerning his impressions of the other side.

"During our stay in London the local talent kidded us quite a bit in regards to what is laughingly called prohibition," he says. The comic papers are full of wise cracks on the same subject at the expense of America, but, between you and I, they're nothing more comical in the world than some of the laws which now infests Great Britain.

"For example, if you don't get married before three o'clock in the afternoon, it ain't legal."

"For another example, you can't buy a drink between three o'clock and half past five. They may be some connection between these two laws, though I don't quite get it."

"For still another example, you can't buy cigarettes, cigars, or tobacco after eight at night except at a hotel. They're a reason for this. The English cigarettes, cigars, and tobacco is such that you ought to be in hailing distance of a bed when you smoke them."

"Up in Scotland, later on, we run into another law that deserves mention."

"It says that between certain hours on certain days, nobody but travelers can get a drink. In order to be a traveler, you've got to come from at least two miles away. The result of this law is that the roads are full of boys from Galashiels walking to Lauder and boys from Lauder walking to Galashiels."

RIVERTON MINE NEAR SPRINGFIELD DISASTER SCENE

ONE HUNDRED MEN IN SHAFT WHEN EXPLOSION OCCURRED

ALL BUT 17 WERE REPORTED AS BEING BROUGHT TO SAFETY

(By United Press)
Springfield, Ill., March 6.—Seventeen men are trapped in the Peabody Mine at Riverton, a mining town near here following a blast dam explosion today. One hundred men were in the shaft when the explosion occurred and all but seventeen were brought to safety.

Only meager details of the explosion were obtained when all telegraph and telephone wires between here and Riverton were put out of commission.

OFFICIALS HAVE NO NEWS OF EXPLOSION

Chicago, March 6.—Officials of the Peabody Coal Company, owners of the Peabody Mine at Riverton, today told the United Press they had received no news of the explosion from mine officials, but expressed fear large loss of life would follow a powerful blast.

UNCONFIRMED REPORTS SAY THE 17 ESCAPED

Springfield, March 6.—Later unconfirmed reports were that 17 men escaped the blast and came to the surface.

17 OVERCOME BY BAD AIR, RESCUED

Springfield, Ill., March 6.—Seventeen men overcome by bad air were rescued today from the Peabody Mine at Riverton, a mining town near here after report of an explosion had been circulated near the shaft. Presence of the bad air in the shaft is believed due to a "widy shot" last night in which a shot firer was overcome. The 17 left in the mine following escape of 83 of their companions were carried to the surface.

SENATE TO BE LED BY MOSES

Washington, March 6.—Senator George Moses, New Hampshire republican, was elected president pro tempore of the senate today by a strictly party vote with the three ousted insurgents supporting the men who kicked them out of the republican party. Senators Brookhart, Frazier and Ladd voted for Moses when a roll call was demanded. The vote was 59 to 36.

RETURN ENGAGEMENT

Swedish Violinist Geran Fellingner And Pianist Carl G. Berggren to Play in City

An announcement of more than ordinary interest is that of the return engagement of those two foremost artists of Sweden, Geran O. N. Fellingner, violinist, and Carl G. Berggren, pianist, who so delighted Brainerd audiences on the occasion of their first appearance here last fall. They will be heard in recital at the Clara Lutheran church on Monday, March 23rd.

A return engagement is always a compliment to artists, and it may be said, to their audiences as well, for it is true that some artists who do not choose their own routings show a reluctance to return to certain cities. However, Mr. Fellingner and Mr. Berggren are fond of Brainerd, having enjoyed a vacation here during the summer months, and were so warmly received on the occasion of their first concert, that they are awaiting another appearance here with pleasurable interest.

Their press notes are most flattering, containing praise from the country's most eminent musical critics, including Dr. Davies, of the Minneapolis Tribune, and Dr. Victor Nilsson, of the Minneapolis Journal, who is said to be the most authoritative critic west of Chicago.

Alternates to state convention—A. J. Ellison, Axel Fall, C. A. Stadlbauer and W. J. Lyonais.

James J. Nolan, chairman of credentials committee of the state association and John A. Hoffbauer, chairman of publicity, reported on tentative dates set by the state association as of Thursday, Friday and Saturday, August 20, 21 and 22, which were approved by the lodge.

As announced by Secretary Cummins, Mrs. J. J. Cummins wishes to have a meeting of all wives, daughters and mothers of Elks at Elks hall on Monday evening, March 9, at 8 o'clock, for the purpose of organizing Lady Elks.

A temporary organization will be affected, and committees named later will assist the Elks in putting on their "Kermess Bazaar" in April, and also prepare for their part in the entertainment of the Elks state convention in August.

Preparations are to be made to receive a delegation of State Association officials at the next meeting of the lodge when Secretary Lannie C. Horne, Vice President Wilson and others will attend. A class will be initiated, there will be a luncheon and one of the largest lodge attendances in years is in prospect.

WHITTIER SCHOOL JAMBOREE ON SAT.

Arrangements Practically Completed For School Festival

COMMITTEES ARE BUSY

Fine School Program Sponsored by Whittier Parent-Teachers Association

Arrangements have been practically completed for the Whittier school jamboree which will be staged on Saturday evening. The various committees have been working hard on this entertainment, and it is hoped that their efforts will be rewarded by a large attendance.

While the name of the entertainment would indicate that it were to be along the lines of a hilarious carnival, it is in reality a very well ordered school program, sponsored by the Whittier parent-teachers association. It has been compared to a circus, with a main attraction and numerous side shows.

The main attraction in this case is the program, lasting more than an hour, in the assembly room. The feature of this program is a clever operetta with very elaborate settings and costumes, and which alone is well worth the small admission charge.

Tickets are already on sale, in fact a large number have been sold. The price is fifteen cents, and admits the bearer into the school building and to the main program in the assembly room. Those who desire to take advantage of the several side shows will be charged a small extra fee.

Following are the committees, whose work will go far toward making the event a success:

Costume committee for operetta—Mrs. J. F. Woodhead, chairman, Mrs. Carl Zapffe, Mrs. D. W. Hoffman, Mrs. R. L. Geist, Mrs. James Alderman, Mrs. G. D. LaBar, Mrs. George Warner and Mrs. C. P. Cocks.

Scenery committee for operetta—Mrs. F. E. Stout, chairman, Mrs. R. A. Beise, Mrs. G. D. LaBar, Mrs. J. F. Woodhead, Mrs. James Richards, R. L. Geist, C. W. Hoffman, Dr. K. A. Hoorn, John F. Woodhead and F. E. Stout.

The properties for the operetta were very generously donated by the Northern Home Furnishing Co., flowers by the Jones Drygoods store, the pergola by the Hayes Lucas Lumber Co., and the garden fence by the Sunday school of the First Baptist church.

The ticket committee is composed of Mrs. C. D. McKay, chairman, Mrs. A. K. Cohen, Mrs. A. C. Weber, Mrs. W. F. Wieland, Mrs. H. A. Olson and Mrs. G. A. Burns.

The refreshment committee—Mrs. A. L. Alexander, chairman, Mrs. C. B. Peterson, Mrs. A. J. Ellison, Mrs. J. C. Clausen, Mrs. Grace Williams, Mrs. Joseph Nicholson, and Mrs. Edward Anderson. Refreshments will be served in a special booth, where wieners, sandwiches, cake, ice cream and coffee may be obtained at a very low price. A large supply of these items has been obtained, as it is expected that a large number of visitors will come without supper. The coffee was donated by the Nash Finch Co., and made by Mrs. George Mahood.

At the candy booth home made sweets and popcorn balls will be on sale. The committee consists of Mrs. R. L. Geist, chairman, Mrs. Walter Polson, Mrs. R. D. King, Mrs. J. E. Jackson, Mrs. J. R. Smith, Miss Thomasson and Miss Clarke.

The fish pond will be in the basement, and will be well worth the slight inconvenience in visiting that portion of the building. Many splendid articles, all brand new, will be used here. The committee is under the direction of Mrs. A. M. Opsahl, chairman, and consists of Mrs. R. T. Campbell, Mrs. C. G. Nordin, Mrs. J. H. Kinney, Mrs. A. F. Peterson, Mrs. H. J. Wilson, Mrs. Frank Lowery, Mrs. James Richards and Mrs. C. N. Erickson.

The doors of the Whittier building will be open at seven o'clock Saturday evening, and the fun starts a few minutes later. Everyone is invited and urged to attend, with the suggestions that they come early and stay late.

50 or More Brainerd Girls to do Their Bit in Army Campaign

(Contributed)
Don't be alarmed tomorrow when you hear the slogan "Buy a doughnut" as some 50 or more Brainerd girls have determined to do their bit in helping to swell the Salvation Army Heart fund.

The girls will meet at the Chamber of Commerce in the morning at 9 o'clock and receive a supply of tags resembling Salvation Army doughnuts and then set out in dead earnest to tag everyone in town.

The quota has not yet been obtained but the girls have vowed that it will be closer when they finish tomorrow evening.

C. W. KOERING & SON NEW MEAT MARKET

Open Establishment at Former Location in Northeast Brainerd

NO NOVICE IN BUSINESS

In Addition to Fresh And Salt Meats And Fish, Will Carry Line of Groceries

C. W. Koering and his son, C. J. Koering are opening a meat market and provision establishment in Northeast Brainerd, as indicated by the advertisement in today's Dispatch.

This means that Mr. Koering is back in the old stand on Kindred street, in the quarters that have been recently occupied by the Eagle Market and Provision Company, where he will be glad to meet his old friends as well as new ones, and invites the farmers of the county to visit his place of business.

Mr. Koering is no novice in this line of business. For the past 29 years he has operated a market in Northeast Brainerd, and is well known in that as well as other parts of the city. During all of his business experience he has always been located on Kindred street, and will continue on that same main thoroughfare, at 121 A street.

In addition to a complete line of fresh and salt meats and fish, C. W.

The ticket committee is composed of Mrs. C. D. McKay, chairman, Mrs. A. K. Cohen, Mrs. A. C. Weber, Mrs. W. F. Wieland, Mrs. H. A. Olson and Mrs. G. A. Burns.

The refreshment committee—Mrs. A. L. Alexander, chairman, Mrs. C. B. Peterson, Mrs. A. J. Ellison, Mrs. J. C. Clausen, Mrs. Grace Williams, Mrs. Joseph Nicholson, and Mrs. Edward Anderson. Refreshments will be served in a special booth, where wieners, sandwiches, cake, ice cream and coffee may be obtained at a very low price. A large supply of these items has been obtained, as it is expected that a large number of visitors will come without supper. The coffee was donated by the Nash Finch Co., and made by Mrs. George Mahood.

At the candy booth home made sweets and popcorn balls will be on sale. The committee consists of Mrs. R. L. Geist, chairman, Mrs. Walter Folsom, Mrs. R. D. King, Mrs. J. E. Jackson, Mrs. J. R. Smith, Miss Thomasson and Miss Clarke.

The fish pond will be in the basement, and will be well worth the slight inconvenience in visiting that portion of the building. Many splendid articles, all brand new, will be used here. The committee is under the direction of Mrs. A. M. Opsahl, chairman, and consists of Mrs. R. T. Campbell, Mrs. C. G. Nordin, Mrs. J. H. Kinney, Mrs. A. F. Peterson, Mrs. H. J. Wilson, Mrs. Frank Lowery, Mrs. James Richards and Mrs. C. N. Erickson.

The doors of the Whittier building will be open at seven o'clock Saturday evening, and the fun starts a few minutes later. Everyone is invited and urged to attend, with the suggestions that they come early and stay late.

"DOUGHNUT DAY" TO AID THE ARMY

Salvation Army Heart Fund to Get Impetus on Saturday

TAGS RESEMBLE DOUGHNUTS

50 or More Brainerd Girls to do Their Bit in Army Campaign (Contributed)

Don't be alarmed tomorrow when you hear the slogan "Buy a doughnut" as some 50 or more Brainerd girls have determined to do their bit in helping to swell the Salvation Army Heart fund.

The girls will meet at the Chamber of Commerce in the morning at 9 o'clock and receive a supply of tags resembling Salvation Army doughnuts and then set out in dead earnest to tag everyone in town.

The quota has not yet been obtained but the girls have vowed that it will be closer when they finish tomorrow evening.

8 PER CENT DIVIDEND

Brainerd Cooperative Mercantile Company Votes Such Dividend on Stock at Monthly Meeting

The meaning of co-operation is being carried out in its fullest sense by the Brainerd Cooperative Mercantile Company of our city. Some time ago it was voted by the board of directors to pay a dividend on all capital stock, of 8 per cent, and at the last monthly board meeting, it was also voted to pay all stockholders and patrons of the store a dividend of 2 per cent on all purchases for the year 1934.

C. W. KOERING & SON NEW MEAT MARKET

Open Establishment at Former Location in Northeast Brainerd

NO NOVICE IN BUSINESS

In Addition to Fresh And Salt Meats And Fish, Will Carry Line of Groceries

C. W. Koering and his son, C. J. Koering are opening a meat market and provision establishment in Northeast Brainerd, as indicated by the advertisement in today's Dispatch.

This means that Mr. Koering is back in the old stand on Kindred street, in the quarters that have been recently occupied by the Eagle Market and Provision Company, where he will be glad to meet his old friends as well as new ones, and invites the farmers of the county to visit his place of business.

Mr. Koering is no novice in this line of business. For the past 29 years he has operated a market in Northeast Brainerd, and is well known in that as well as other parts of the city. During all of his business experience he has always been located on Kindred street, and will continue on that same main thoroughfare, at 121 A street.

In addition to a complete line of fresh and salt meats and fish, C. W.

A COOLIDGE APPRECIATION

THIS Coolidge appreciation by a writer in the Boston Transcript reveals new sidelights of the president and shows that he is not a bit cold in his nature.

He has a warmth of sympathy and a fund of his own quiet humor. His feelings are as sincere as those of any man. That those who know him best like him best is an appraisal of a side of his character which cannot be overlooked.

Some observers are prone to believe he is lacking in a quality simply because he does not parade it. Be it said that he is not the type to make a parade of any quality.

His actions cannot always be anticipated by the ordinary rules, hence the mystery that has been made of him. There is absolutely no one in public or private life who can read his mind—unless he is willing to have it read. He comes to decisions by himself; his policies are his own.

Thus we come to Coolidge, the politician. He is a master in that particular. He has made government his business and politics his avocation. He has studied both to a remarkable extent. If anyone still thinks that he is blessed with only an inconsiderable mental equipment, take it on the word of members of his cabinet that the opposite is true.

If anyone doubts that he is politically alert, ask any political caller who has visited him in the last year and a half. Above all, he has a grasp of political practicalities and technique that is unusual and a political instinct that is uncanny.

The administration about to be inaugurated will be built about the personality of President Coolidge. No truer statement can be made regarding him than that he inspires instinctive confidence in his integrity and ability. He may have homely virtues, but they hold the people to him.

THE HOME TRADE CAMPAIGN

UNDER the leadership of Vice President W. J. Hall, the Chamber of Commerce has set in motion its "Trade in Brainerd" campaign. Following his address at the Rotary club, the latter's Business Methods committee took up a new angle and will have eight discussions on these topics:

Why does the local merchant deserve patronage over an out of town company operating in Brainerd?
The value and character of advertising.

Why should a place of business be kept clean inside and out?
What is the value of cooperation with my competitor?

In what way should civic pride affect business?

Why business and professional national organizations are necessary and what good can be applied from them to local business?

Why should the personal conduct and disposition of the owner be reflected on his organization?

Why is it essential that employees are loyal to their employer?

These are all live topics and one of them, as to the value of cooperation with one's competitor, was discussed in an able manner by William Haydon, who told of conditions in the ice cream field.

Every one of the eight topics is of interest to every merchant in the city. The various discussions in the Rotary club will be along original lines and the various points advanced will be of material benefit. With Brainerd seeking home trade and also doing everything possible to merit such trade, there should be an increase in home merchandising.

COACH KRUEGER

BRAINERD high school is proud of its high school basketball team which now stands a show of winning the district tournament at Aitkin. Credit in the first place for such an excellent team, such harmony and such skill in its action, goes to Coach Krueger who took raw material, with the exception of one veteran, Engbretson, and moulded it into championship caliber.

Basketball has taken as great a hold here in Brainerd as baseball ever did, and every game has been well attended. Brainerd fans attend the outside games and at a recent Little Falls game Brainerd fans outnumbered the Little Falls rooters.

Just the other day, the high school janitor called at the Dispatch office and he voiced his appreciation of the Brainerd quint and the coach.

"Now, I've watched teams come and go for many years," said the janitor. "But I've never seen boys play like this year's team. The man who put the punch in our team is the coach, Mr. Krueger, and you put a piece in the paper so he knows that we appreciate what he's done for the high school. He's got so much steam and energy and can make those kids play basketball, that many a time it's all I could do to check myself, or I'd be jumping in and playing too."

DUCKS WINTER HERE

ONE of the first instances of its kind, and showing that winters in Minnesota are not of intense rigor, is the fact that eight wild mallards have wintered below the dam at Gull Lake. Somebody evidently told the ducks about the sanctuary afforded by government land and they have stayed close on the reservation where they are safe from harm and any tenderfoot shooters.

Members of the Crow Wing Game and Fish club went out recently and gave the mallards cracked corn a-plenty. Next season the eight mallards will bring a lot of friends with them and the duck colony at Gull Lake dam will be one of the most interesting sights in our section.

CREDIT DUE OLE ANDERSON

CONSIDERABLE credit is due Ole Anderson for the nice dry condition of our streets, said an observant merchant. Mr. Anderson is connected with the city street department and late last fall, before the freezeup, he very carefully examined catch basins, cleaned them out and covered them with heavy tar paper.

This kept the basins free from debris and when spring opened, as it did with a rush yesterday when temperature ran up to 50 degrees, all the basins were generally in shape to drain quickly and well.

The Greatest Fort on American Soil

To Virginia, the "Mother of Presidents," goes the honor of having upon her soil the greatest and most important fortification in the United States. It is Fortress Monroe at Old Point Comfort at the mouth of the James river and it bears the name of a Virginian, President James Monroe. Fortress Monroe was begun in 1817 and was built primarily as a defense for the navy yard at Norfolk. It was designed by Gen. Simon Bernard, a famous French engineer who had served under Napoleon and who held a commission in the American army from 1816 to 1831. With an area of 80 acres surrounded by a moat from 75 to 150 feet wide and filled with tidal water from 8 to 15 feet deep, Fortress Monroe was believed to be impregnable to a land attack.

In 1818 Virginia ceded this stronghold to the federal government, little realizing that half a century later it would be the strongest threat of the federal government against her sovereignty during the Civil war. Although the Confederates seized the Norfolk navy yard at the outbreak of the war, the Stars and Stripes remained over Fortress Monroe and it gave to the Union forces command of the waterway. Hampton Roads.

During the Civil war Fortress Monroe saw many a historic event. There Gen. B. F. Butler, its commander, struck the first blow at slavery by ruling that slaves who came to him seeking their freedom were "contrabands of war," and setting them to work strengthening the fort. Under its walls the iron-clad Merrimac, or the Virginia, as the Confederates called her, destroyed the Cumberland and the Congress and the next day engaged in the terrific combat with the "little cheesecake on a raft," Ericsson's Monitor, a vessel which revolutionized naval warfare.

There, too, was played the last act in the drama of the Lost Cause when Jefferson Davis, president of the Confederacy, entered the gates of Fortress Monroe as a prisoner of war, his dream of a separate nation broken, and for two years paced a cell in it.

Fortress Monroe had a part in one more great conflict, for when the United States entered the World war, many of the men who commanded her artillery and gave such a good account of themselves "over there" had received their training in the artillery school at that fort.

Baby's Laundry Bag Is Very Essential Item

Particular mothers are especially careful about the baby's laundry. They know the importance of keeping the small wool, silk and muslin articles of infants' wear separate from the family laundry. These little garments, designed to protect the delicate, soft skin of the baby, must be carefully washed with mild soap, and thoroughly rinsed in clear water, so that they will not become harsh, or filled with substances that are irritating.

The best way to do this, in a systematic manner, so that mother will always know where to find each article of clothing, is to keep a laundry bag separate from the general one, and use it for baby's clothes only. When the child is old enough, three years or about, it can be given early lessons in neatness by letting it pick up its own garments and stow them away in the laundry bag. If the bag is an attractive one, and it can be, as easily as not, this habit will grow to be a pleasant one with the child.

Quite the cunningest, and also the most practical bag, can be made with a small amount of trouble. The top is made of wool, painted in the shape of an adorable head, with lovely curls, dimples 'n' everything. The baby's arms come down to hold the bag open, so there is no vexing draw string to bother. The bag itself is made of cretonne, saten or unbleached muslin, and is roomy enough to hold heaps of clothes.

Fair Game

An English tourist who was staying at a farmhouse in a Scottish parish was told by his landlord one morning to take the gun and go to the field and "shoot something." A little later while going down a lane, his gun under his arm, the tourist met a small boy making for the school.

"I say, my boy," he remarked, "is there anything to shoot down here?" The boy looked around for a moment, and then answered with eagerness:

"Ay, there's the skulmeister comin' ower the hill."

Blue Books

In England blue books are official reports or other publications presented by the crown to both houses of parliament. They are called blue books because each volume is covered with a blue wrapper. In this country the term "blue book" is applied to a publication containing the names and addresses of persons employed by the government. A directory containing the names and addresses of persons prominent in society is also called a blue book.—Pathfinder Magazine.

Wild geese cast their feathers in summer, losing almost all the feathers from their wings simultaneously. During this season they are helpless and the natives of northern Russia take advantage of their condition and net them by the thousands. These are buried in the mud of the swamps and left to rot. Later they are dug up and fed to the half-wild dogs and are even eaten by the indiscriminating natives.

for 65 years been relieving pains for millions. It does that quickly, without burning the skin. You can rely on it. Your druggist guarantees it. Why take chances on a method not so sure?

Keep St. Jacobs Oil on hand. Have it ready when the pain starts. Don't waste hours which you can spend in comfort. Just a moment of rubbing with St. Jacobs Oil will end most of the pains you suffer. And check a chest cold at the start. Think how little the cost—only 35 cents—to insure that.

For 65 years St. Jacobs Oil has been ending pain for millions. It stops at once

most of the pains we suffer, and gives Nature a chance to cure. All pains allied to rheumatism, to backache and lameness are among them. And the pains and dangers of chest colds.

Some results come through counter irritation. Some by relieving congestion by bringing the blood to the skin. All are prompt. Before you stop rubbing on St. Jacobs Oil the pain ebbs away.

Then you forget the trouble, while Nature has a chance to cure the cause. You can afford to wait.

Savage Russian Custom

Wild geese cast their feathers in summer, losing almost all the feathers from their wings simultaneously. During this season they are helpless and the natives of northern Russia take advantage of their condition and net them by the thousands. These are buried in the mud of the swamps and left to rot. Later they are dug up and fed to the half-wild dogs and are even eaten by the indiscriminating native.

65 Years of Pain Stopped in this Matchless way

For 65 years been relieving pains for millions. It does that quickly, without burning the skin. You can rely on it. Your druggist guarantees it. Why take chances on a method not so sure?

Keep St. Jacobs Oil on hand. Have it ready when the pain starts. Don't waste hours which you can spend in comfort. Just a moment of rubbing with St. Jacobs Oil will end most of the pains you suffer. And check a chest cold at the start. Think how little the cost—only 35 cents—to insure that.

For 65 years St. Jacobs Oil has been ending pain for millions. It stops at once

most of the pains we suffer, and gives Nature a chance to cure. All pains allied to rheumatism, to backache and lameness are among them. And the pains and dangers of chest colds.

Some results come through counter irritation. Some by relieving congestion by bringing the blood to the skin. All are prompt. Before you stop rubbing on St. Jacobs Oil the pain ebbs away.

Then you forget the trouble, while Nature has a chance to cure the cause. You can afford to wait.

Some will tell you other ways to do this. But remember that this way has

ADVICE TO THE FAIR BUT PLUMP GIRLS, BY HEDDA

THE LOT OF THE ODD SIZED WOMAN IS A HARD
ONE

AVERAGE SO-CALLED STYLES
ARE MADE FOR SIZE 16
FIGURE

By HEDDA HOYT
(Fashion Editor of the United Press)
(Written for the United Press)
New York, March 6.—The average so-called styles are not made for the multitudes. They are made for the size 16 figure. This is the reason why slender women always appear well-dressed, whereas large women and odd sized women look grotesque in most of the ready-made fashionable creations.

The lot of the odd sized woman is a hard one. She has not been considered by the designers of frocks and wraps. True, some manufacturers specialize on making apparel for large women, but they merely copy the model-sized gowns in larger cities.

So the large woman must either find a dressmaker who will modify
the mode to suit her particular lines, or wear the unbecoming ready-mades in the shops which were originally made for slender misses. If she chooses the first method, she needs to be somewhat of a designer herself,
since she can't afford to risk the discrimination of the average dressmaker.

Here are a few things which may assist the woman who happens to have a waist measure several inches larger than a man's shirt collar, or is so unfortunate as to have the bust-measure of a healthy woman and whose hips require more than an elastic band to confine them into a 34-inch circumference.

Two Kinds of Figures

To begin with there are two kinds of figures. Those that are larger from the waistline upwards and those that are larger from the waist downwards. In this day and age there seems to be more of the former than of the latter, since proper cor-setting during the last ten years has tended to narrow the hips and raise the diaphragm. Women with broad shoulders and narrow hips are far more fortunate than those with the opposite dimensions. Firstly, the largebusted woman can take advantage of the popular low-placed waistline and this will lessen the appearance of her size above the waist.
Certainly no stout woman would attempt the normal waistline which appears in some of the flapper frocks
these days.

For the figure which is large above
the waist, one would suggest a frock with slender lines from the hips downwards, but the skirt should not be so slender as to make the upper portion of the body appear overpowering. A skirt that is too slender, when the upper portion of the body
is large, will cause a lack of balance.
Therefore, one should choose a frock that is slender over the hips with draping at one side or with inverted tucks or soft pleating set in panel effect below the hipline, thus giving a little hemfulness which is popular today.

As to the neckline, it should never be rounding where the neck is short and plump, since the round neckline draws the head too close to the shoulders. A better neckline is cut high in the rear and V-shaped or square in front. Where the bustline is very high, a very deep V-shape in front with a gimp of contrasting material or lace counteracts the high bustline and also lessens the appearance of breadth across the body. A low-busted person should not attempt the deep-cut V-shape, but should use embroidery-work or trimming placed high over the bust to break the line.

Sleeves should be long where the arm is over-plump. Nothing makes one look "fatter" than a sleeveless gown. Even with the evening gown one should wear some sort of sleeve draping. A chiffon scarf sometimes may act as a covering to the upper arm.

The absolutely straight-lined gown is not for the stout woman. There should always be some sort of a low-placed girdle or belt about the hips, when the hips are narrower than the upper part of the body.

A Far Harder Lot

As to the woman who is large from the hips down and narrow above the waistline, hers is a more difficult lot.
She must have her bodice made full enough to balance with her lower portion of her body. She should not try to appear small by drawing attention to the upper portion of her body, but should try to balance the entire figure by making the upper portion of her frock conform with the lower portion.

Her bodice should be made rather loose and the kimona sleeve adds grace as well as breadth. If the hips are abnormally large the skirt can not be too tight, as bulk should be concealed and not revealed. Skillful draping of the skirt, apron, effects, loose side panels, etc., will break one breadth. Nothing is better for the stout person than the flat side-panels placed on the hips. They should be cut just a bit longer than the skirt to give the appearance of length and the skirt itself should never be too short, since short skirts are not for stout figures.

Where the skirt joins the bodice there should be some suggestion of waistline where the hips are large—perhaps a narrow beaded belt in keeping with the color of the frock, or better still is the frock that is made in straight line from neck to hem in front and rear with the waistline suggested at the sides
where the panels join the bodice.

Don't attempt to wear tight-toned
hosiery when black shoes and gun-metal stockings are equally smart.

Don't wear shoes with rounded toes and fanciful straps which were designed for nimble flappers and not to carry bulk.

Color Plays Part in Formal Frocks

Loveliest Shades Are Conspicuous in Daintiest
Evening Attire.

Evening, dinner and dance frocks
are of interest, both matron and maid coming under their spell, for there is something so alluring, so colorful about these dresses which belong to the electric lighted part of the day that few can withstand them, observes
a fashion writer in the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Perhaps it is best to scrutinize the materials in vogue for evening before we turn our attention to the varied modes. Velvets, both in white and colors are especially good, and they may be plain chiffon weaves, or gorgeous velvet brocaded chiffons and georgettes. Solid-colored and shaded chiffons are especially youthful, while satins, silk brocaded chiffons and laces, gold and silver are also smart.

Color, too, plays an important part in evening attire. The loveliest reds are used, flame, firecracker and cas-tillian with rose, coral and shell pink, glowing yellows and golds for those who can wear them with blues, laven-

Bouffant Frock, Embroidered and Lace Trimmed Back and Paniers.

ders, purples, fuchsia and several tones
of green.

The all-white evening gown is also featured to a notable degree, and very attractive such frocks are, the necessary color touch being given by gorgeous ostrich fans, gayly embroidered scarfs or shawls, Spanish or oriental in design.

After one has a general idea as to material and color, deciding on the particular mode in which the gown is to be fashioned. If it is to be made by a modiste, is the next step. Indeed, even when buying a garment of any type in the store
it facilitates matters to have some idea as to the material and color desired.

For the young girl, a full-skirted mode is always becoming. This fullness may be achieved by a straight gathered skirt, a circular one, or by the use of godets. A pretty model shown recently was of tangerine-colored georgette made with a tight bodice and an extremely wide circular skirt, the sides being a trifle longer than the front or back. The trimming consisted of self-colored flat silk roses about two and a half inches in diameter, set at intervals over the entire skirt.

BUILDING A HIGHWAY FOR GOD

Rev. Valiant Stresses Need of Same
in Sermon at Christian Life
Mission

WHY RIVERS ARE CROOKED

Most Important Highway of All is
One of Righteousness For God
to Travel On

Rivers are crooked because they follow the line of least resistance, and men are crooked for the same reason, was one of the volleys Rev.
Valiant fired at the audience in the First Baptist church in connection with the Christian Life Mission being conducted with the Baptist churches of Brainerd at this time.

"Building a Highway for God"
was the subject discussed by the speaker. He said, "In these days when we are spending millions of dollars in building great state and national highways, it ought to be easy for us to understand what the prophet of old meant when he said,
'Make straight in the desert a highway for our God.'

"It does not make any difference
how many fine highways this country may build to meet the demands of automobile owners, it will go the way of other great countries, noted for their fine roads, if we neglect the most important highway of all —a highway of righteousness, from one end of our land to the other, for our God to travel on."

To Air Mattress

A good way to air the mattress is to stand it up against the wall or draw it over the foot board.

Rice in Beef Loaf

Add a cup of rice to beef loaf you will find the flavor improved. Be-

FAMOUS FORTS IN U. S. HISTORY

By ELMO SCOTT WATSON

The Fort on the Great Inland Sea

The story of Fort Ashley, Utah, is the story of a Ashley-Smith exploration, of two great men to whom history has given but small measure of the credit due them—William Henry Ashley and Jedediah Strong Smith.
That story goes back to 1822 when Ashley organized the Rocky Mountain Fur company and set out upon a trading and trapping expedition up the Missouri. In that company were men whose names were to loom large in western history for the next half century—Andrew Henry, David Jackson, William Sublette, Milton Sublette, Jedediah Smith, Robert Campbell, Thomas Fitzpatrick, James Bridger, Samuel Tulloch, Etienne Provost (for whom the city of Provo, Utah, is named) and James Beckwourth.

The 1822 expedition went up the Missouri to the mouth of the Yellowstone. The next year Ashley led another to the Arikara villages on the Upper Missouri. In 1824 his company penetrated to the Green river valley and the next year to the great Salt lake on whose banks he built the little stockaded post which bore his name. The next year he made another trip to his post, bringing with him some small cannons on wheels,
the first time in history that artillery of any sort ever penetrated this wilderness.

Although Fort Ashley in itself never became as important as a number of other fur trading posts in the Rockies, Utah can take pride in offering it as her most important fort solely because of its connection with the name of Ashley and his men, especially Jedediah Strong Smith, the "American Ulysses" whose explorations much more richly deserve for him the title of "The Pathfinder" than do those of Gen. John C. Fremont.

Here are some of the achievements of Ashley and his men: They were the first white men to travel the central overland route to the Pacific in the winter, the first to use that variation of South pass, named Bridger's pass, after one of their number; they were the first Americans to investigate the mountains of northern Colorado; they were the first to enter the Great Divide basin; the first to cross almost the entire length of southern Wyoming; and the first to navigate the dangerous canyons of the Green river. When Jedediah Smith pushed on to California from Fort Ashley he was the first American to reach California by land and he was also the first to traverse the full length of California and Oregon by land. With such a list of "historical firsts" to the credit of the men who founded Fort Ashley, it can well take its place in the front rank of American forts.

THE LOT OF THE ODD SIZED WOMAN IS A HARD
ONE

ARE MADE FOR SIZE 16
FIGURE

By HEDDA HOTT
(Fashion Editor of the United Press)
(Written for the United Press)

New York, March 6.—The average so-called styles are not made for the multitudes. They are made for the size 16 figure. This is the reason why slender women always appear well-dressed, whereas large women and odd sized women look grotesque in most of the ready-made fashionable creations.

The lot of the odd sized woman is a hard one. She has not been considered by the designers of frocks and wraps. True, some manufacturers specialize on making apparel for large women, but they merely copy the model-sized gowns in larger cities.

So the large woman must either find a dressmaker who will modify the mode to suit her particular lines, or wear the unbecoming ready-mades in the shops which were originally made for slender misses. If she chooses the first method, she needs to be somewhat of a designer herself, since she can't afford to risk the discrimination of the average dressmaker.

Two Kinds of Figures

To begin with there are two kinds of figures. Those that are larger from the waistline upwards and those that are larger from the waist downwards. In this day and age there seems to be more of the former than of the latter, since proper corseting during the last ten years has tended to narrow the hips and raise the diaphragm. Women with broad shoulders and narrow hips are far more fortunate than those with the opposite dimensions. Firstly, the large-busted woman can take advantage of the popular low-placed waistline and this will lessen the appearance of her size above the waist. Certainly no stout woman would attempt the normal waistline which appears in some of the flapper frocks these days.

For the figure which is large above the waist, one would suggest a frock with slender lines from the hips downwards, but the skirt should not be so slender as to make the upper portion of the body appear overpowering. A skirt that is too slender, when the upper portion of the body is large, will cause a lack of balance. Therefore, one should choose a frock that is slender over the hips with draping at one side or with inverted tucks or soft pleating set in panel effect below the hipline, thus giving a little hemfulness which is popular today.

As to the neckline, it should never be rounding where the neck is short and plump, since the round neckline draws the head too close to the shoulders. A better neckline is cut high in the rear and V-shaped or square in front. Where the bustline is very high, a very deep V-shape in front with a gimp of contrasting material or lace counteracts the high bustline and also lessens the appearance of breadth across the body. A low-busted person should not attempt the deep-cut V-shape, but should use embroidery-work or trimming placed high over the bust to break the line.

Sleeves should be long where the arm is over-plump. Nothing makes one look "fatter" than a sleeveless gown. Even with the evening gown one should wear some sort of sleeve draping. A chiffon scarf sometimes may act as a covering to the upper arm.

The absolutely straight-lined gown is not for the stout woman. There should always be some sort of a low-placed girdle or belt about the hips, when the hips are narrower than the upper part of the body.

A Far Harder Lot

As to the woman who is large from the hips down and narrow above the waistline, hers is a more difficult lot. She must have her bodice made full enough to balance with her lower portion of her body. She should not try to appear small by drawing attention to the upper portion of her body, but should try to balance the entire figure by making the upper portion of her frock conform with the lower portion.

Her bodice should be made rather loose and the kimono sleeve adds grace as well as breadth. If the hips are abnormally large the skirt can not be too tight, as bulk should be concealed and not revealed. Skillful draping of the skirt, apron effects, loose side panels, etc., will break one breadth. Nothing is better for the stout person than the flat side-panels placed on the hips. They should be cut just a bit longer than the skirt to give the appearance of length and the skirt itself should never be too short, since short skirts are not for stout figures.

Where the skirt joins the bodice there should be some suggestion of waistline where the hips are large—perhaps a narrow beaded belt in keeping with the color of the frock, or better still is the frock that is made in straight line from neck to hem in front and rear with the waistline suggested at the sides where the panels join the bodice.

Don't attempt to wear light-toned hosiery when black shoes and gun-metal stockings are equally smart.

Don't wear shoes with rounded toes and fanciful straps which were designed for nimble flappers and not to carry bulk.

Color Plays Part in Formal Frocks

Loveliest Shades Are Con-
spicuous in Daintiest
Evening Attire.

Evening, dinner and dance frocks are of interest, both matron and maid coming under their spell, for there is something so alluring, so colorful about these dresses which belong to the electric lighted part of the day that few can withstand them, observes a fashion writer in the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Perhaps it is best to scrutinize the materials in vogue for evening before we turn our attention to the varied modes. Velvets, both in white and colors are especially good, and they may be plain chiffon weaves, or gorgeous velvet brocaded chiffons and georgettes. Solid-colored and shaded chiffons are especially youthful, while satins, silk brocaded chiffons and laces, gold and silver are also smart.

Color, too, plays an important part in evening attire. The loveliest reds are used, flame, firecracker and castilian with rose, coral and shell pink, glowing yellows and golds for those who can wear them with blues, lavender

Bouffant Frocks, Embroidered and

ders, purples, fuchsias and several tones of green. The all-white evening gown is also featured to a notable degree, and very attractive such frocks are, the necessary color touch being given by gorgeous ostrich fans, gayly embroidered scarfs or shawls, Spanish or oriental in design.

After one has a general idea as to material and color, deciding on the particular mode in which the gown is to be fashioned, if it is to be made by a modiste, is the next step. Indeed, even when buying a garment of any type in the store it facilitates matters to have some idea as to the material and color desired.

For the young girl, a full-skirted mode is always becoming. This fullness may be achieved by a straight gathered skirt, a circular one, or by the use of godets. A pretty model shown recently was of tangerine-colored georgette made with a tight bodice and an extremely wide circular skirt, the sides being a trifle longer than the front or back. The trimming consisted of self-colored flat silk roses about two and a half inches in diameter, set at intervals over the entire skirt.

BUILDING A HIGHWAY FOR GOD

Rev. Valiant Stresses Need of Same
in Sermon at Christian Life
Mission

WHY RIVERS ARE CROOKED

Most Important Highway of All is
One of Righteousness For God
to Travel On

Rivers are crooked because they follow the line of least resistance, and men are crooked for the same reason, was one of the volleys Rev. Valiant fired at the audience in the First Baptist church in connection with the Christian Life Mission being conducted with the Baptist churches of Brainerd at this time.

"Building a Highway for God" was the subject discussed by the speaker. He said, "In these days when we are spending millions of dollars in building great state and national highways, it ought to be easy for us to understand what the prophet of old meant when he said, 'Make straight in the desert a highway for our God.'"

"It does not make any difference how many fine highways this country may build to meet the demands of automobile owners, it will go the way of other great countries, noted for their fine roads, if we neglect the most important highway of all—a highway of righteousness, from one end of our land to the other, for our God to travel on."

To Air Mattress

A good way to air the mattress is to stand it up against the wall or draw it over the foot board.

Rice in Beef Loaf

Add a cup of rice to beef loaf you will find the flavor improved. Besides, the loaf will be moist and will slice without crumbling.

For Thickening Gravy

Always mix a little salt with the flour before you use it for thickening gravy or soup and there will be no lumps.

FAMOUS FORTS IN U. S. HISTORY

By ELMO SCOTT WATSON

The Fort on the Great Inland Sea

The story of Fort Ashley, Utah, is the story of a Ashley-Smith exploration, of two great men to whom history has given but small measure of the credit due them—William Henry Ashley and Jedediah Strong Smith. That story goes back to 1822 when Ashley organized the Rocky Mountain Fur company and set out upon a trading and trapping expedition up the Missouri. In that company were men whose names were to loom large in western history for the next half century—Andrew Henry, David Jackson, William Sublette, Milton Sublette, Jedediah Smith, Robert Campbell, Thomas Fitzpatrick, James Bridger, Samuel Tulloch, Etienne Provost (for whom the city of Provo, Utah, is named) and James Beckwourth.

The 1822 expedition went up the Missouri to the mouth of the Yellowstone. The next year Ashley led another to the Arikaia villages on the Upper Missouri. In 1824 his company penetrated to the Green river valley and the next year to the great Salt Lake on whose banks he built the little stockaded post which bore his name. The next year he made another trip to his post, bringing with him some small cannons on wheels, the first time in history that artillery of any sort ever penetrated this wilderness.

Although Fort Ashley in itself never became as important as a number of other fur trading posts in the Rockies, Utah can take pride in offering it as her most important fort solely because of its connection with the name of Ashley and his men, especially Jedediah Strong Smith, the "American Ulysses" whose explorations much more richly deserve for him the title of "The Pathfinder" than do those of Gen. John C. Fremont.

Here are some of the achievements of Ashley and his men: They were the first white men to travel the central overland route to the Pacific in the winter, the first to use that variation of South pass, named Bridger's pass, after one of their number; they were the first Americans to investigate the mountains of northern Colorado; they were the first to enter the Great Divide basin; the first to cross almost the entire length of southern Wyoming; and the first to navigate the dangerous canyons of the Green river. When Jedediah Smith pushed on to California from Fort Ashley he was the first American to reach California by land and he was also the first to traverse the full length of California and Oregon by land. With such a list of "historical firsts" to the credit of the men who founded Fort Ashley, it can well take its place in the front rank of American forts.

Timely Household Hints

Wooden Utensils

Do not dry wooden kitchen utensils such as chopping bowls and mixing forks and spoons over artificial heat as this will cause them to warp and crack.

Ironing Board

Your ironing board should wear a cover when it is not in use so as to keep it as clean as possible.

To Keep Egg Yolks

Egg yolks, if they are broken, may be covered with water and kept for several days. The water should be changed daily.

Cleaning Frames

To clean gilt picture frames cover them with a cream made of whiting and alcohol after wiping and brushing away all possible dust.

To Clean Lace

Gold and silver lace embroidery may be cleaned by brushing with alcohol or gasoline.

Dinner Tables

Dinner tables in steady use ought to be washed and polished monthly if you want them in the pink of condition.

Use Newspapers

Wash windows and mirrors with newspaper squeezed as dry as possible out of cold water containing a little ammonia.

Wrap in Tissue

When white silk garments are to be laid away for some time, wrap them in dark blue tissue paper.

LIBRARY BOARD

SPECIAL SESSION

Steps to be Taken to Establish a Junior Department at the Library

WITH ASSISTANT LIBRARIAN

Board Buys Librarian's Desk From Kampmann & Son

The library board met in special session on Tuesday evening, March 2nd, eight members being present. Mrs. W. C. Rasch, president, presided.

The meeting was called to act on the report of the committee appointed to investigate the plea of the librarian that on account of the crowded condition of the library, a junior department should be provided, to be in charge of an assistant librarian.

This committee, of which Mrs. W. W. Bane is chairman, made a comprehensive report in writing, showing what has been done in providing such departments.

Moorhead, St. Cloud, Little Falls, Bemidji, all reported such a measure as being installed in their libraries with very satisfactory results. The usual wages for the assistant are $25 per month.

After a general discussion, a motion prevailed that the same committee be instructed to take the necessary steps to establish a junior department, but the selection of the assistant librarian be by election of the board at its regular meeting on March 30th.

To be eligible to the position of assistant librarian, the applicant should have some knowledge of library work in addition to an ordinary high school education.

The board voted to instruct the purchasing committee to purchase from Kampmann and Son, as per specifications submitted, a Librarian's desk, priced at $200, the desk to be of a rubbed varnish finish to correspond with the furniture now in use in the library. The building committee is the purchasing agent of the library board.

"ARGENTINE LOVE"

Special Picture at New Park Saturday, Also Four Acts of Vaudeville

The New Park will present four big vaudeville acts and the special picture "Argentine Love" with Bebe Daniels and Ricardo Cortez on Saturday matinee and night at popular prices. The management of the New Park believes the program to be presented Saturday to be one of the best that they have presented in some time considering the fact that the picture is an exceptional one with two very prominent stars Bebe Daniels and Ricardo Cortez, and a fascinating tale of the Love-And-Tangoland by the author of the "Four Horsemen" and "Blood and Sand." Very good reports have been received on the acts that are billed for this week. A short description of the acts to be presented is as follows:

The Manuel Romain Trio in "Triple Alliance of Harmony and Originality." One of the happy surprises of the current bill is the Manuel Romain Trio. It is a snappy combination of singing, talking and dancing. Manuel Romain, the famous minstrel is the father of the twins. Mr. Romain is widely known throughout the world, having been a prize favorite with the lovers of phonographs. Many of his songs are recorded with the Edison, Victor and Columbia people.

Three Keena Girls in "Keen Songs and Dances." The Three Keena Girls are a trio of very pretty girls who will delight any audience with their singing and dancing. Their repertoire will consist of popular and classical selections chosen with a view to pleasing the greatest number of their ardent supporters.

Gibson and Betty in "A Counter Proposal." A classy combination is Gibson and Betty. Hardy Gibson, the comedian of this duo is a late star of many musical comedies, while his partner, Florence Betty, is a dainty looking miss, with a most pleasing personality. It is an act that will please the most fastidious.

Albert "The Master of the Piano Accordion." One of the most popular instruments used in vaudeville by the many artists is the piano accordion, and Albert billed as "The Master of the Piano Accordion" is truly a great artist on this instrument. He plays both popular and grand opera airs that are sure to please the most fastidious.

TOM MIX and ELAIRE ADAMS in "OH, YOU TONY!" A WILLIAM FOX SPECIAL

Tom Mix in Role of Society Dandy
Tom Mix in the role of a society dandy is something unusual to say nothing of remarkable. Yet, there he is as big as life, evening dress clothes and all in "Oh! You Tony," the William Fox star's latest release, which opened at the Lyceum Theatre last night, and is showing tonight.

"Oh, You Tony," is the story of a western rancher who is sent to Washington by his community to lobby for a bill that will prove a benefit to their lands. He gets into society in the capital and is made the dupe of a group of swindlers intent upon gaining possession of his valuable ranch. They lend him money and then contrive to pauperize him so that he will have to sell the ranch to them. Tom is entered with Tony in the big $10,000 road race.

Dick Talmadge (Stunt King) in New Picture at Lyceum

Another smashing story, filled with action which permits Richard Talmadge to be seen at his best, is "American Manners," coming to the Lyceum Theatre on Saturday only. As the boy who runs down the ring of smugglers and saves the reputation of his father, a shipping magnate, Mr. Talmadge is given a splendid opportunity to "do his stuff," of which he avails himself to the full.

"Her Love Story" Ends Run

The final showings of the Allan Dwan Paramount production, "Her Love Story," which opened at the New Park Theatre Thursday, will take place there this afternoon and evening.

Gloria Swanson is the star of the picture and Ian Keith, George Fawcett and others just as well known appear in the strong supporting cast.

The story is an adaptation of the novel and magazine serial "Her Majesty, the Queen," by Mary Roberts Rinehart and is said to be Gloria's best picture to date.

Uses for Jetties

A Jetty is an embankment which extends into a lake or ocean for the purpose of controlling the sand drift that would otherwise shoal up a channel or encroach on the shore. Jetties are usually built of large broken stone, or timberwork; concrete blocks, etc., can be used.

Whittier School Had Highest Report of Attendance For February

SOME RECOMMENDATIONS

Employment of Assistants as Substitute Teachers For Half-Day Sessions

The enrollment of the Brainerd public schools has been brought up to a grand total of 2,149, with the enrollment of 11 new pupils during the month of February, according to Superintendent W. C. Cobb, in his monthly report to the Board of Education. The report continues:

The Whittier school had the highest report of attendance for the month. The per cent of attendance for the entire school system was 97.1. The following teachers had the highest individual room records in attendance:

	per cent
Normal training	99.5
Sigrid Stendal, Harrison	99.
Dale Hunting, Lowell	98.97
Marie Thomason, Whittier	98.75
Marjorie Parker, Lowell	98.2

Maude Clark, Lowell	97.
Mary Walsh, Whittier	97.
Louise Barrett, Whittier	97.

As there were only seven pupils in the Whittier district who would be six years old before the close of the present school year, they were allowed to enter on Monday morning of this week in Miss Walsh's room, and it will not be necessary to employ an extra teacher to care for them. It is possible that a similar arrangement may be made at the Lincoln school, where the primary rooms are not very large, but if the numbers of new pupils of six years of age should be greater than is anticipated, it will be necessary to employ some outside help until the normal training girls are able under the state rules to take care of them.

A condition exists in the advanced grades at the high school building that could be greatly improved by the employment of a part time experienced eighth grade teacher from the present time to the state examination time in the latter part of May. In the three rooms in charge of Mrs. Fleming, Miss Hjerpe and Miss Caughey, there are more than 100 pupils who will be taking one or more examinations in grade subjects for high school entrance. Some of these classes are excessively large and have to be taught in a room with another class seated for study work in the room.

It is my opinion that the employment of a substitute teacher for a half day session between now and the end of the year would greatly increase and facilitate the preparation of these pupils for their state examinations in May. I would therefore recommend that the teachers committee and the superintendent, if they deem it advisable, be authorized to employ such assistance at not to exceed one-half of each day and at regular substitute grade teachers pay for a part or the whole of the time to the end of the present school year. The outlay would be about $125, and I feel that the returns would amply warrant the expenditure.

Beginning with next Monday, Miss Caniff will resume her regular duties at the Harrison school and Miss Piorgola will take up her work for the remainder of the year as the between the Whittier, the Lincoln teacher at large, to divide her time and the Harrison buildings. The time division between these several buildings will probably be determined by the number of pupils in each building and the relative number of pupils in the principals' and upper grade rooms.

Since the last meeting and because of the discussion developed at that meeting over the question of educational films at the theatres, the superintendent sent out a uniform circular letter to the dozen largest cities of Minnesota, asking for information as to their experience in dealing with this problem.

Replies were received from Minneapolis, St. Paul, Duluth, Winona, Mankato, Rochester, St. Cloud, Austin, Albert Lea, Faribault, Cloquet, Hibbing, Virginia, and Chisholm. This information is on file in the superintendent's office for the information of the school board in case they see fit to examine it.

Late Joseph Rosko, Sr., Homesteaded Near St. Cloud And Later Farmed Near Brainerd

AIDED BUILDING N. P. RAILWAY

Funeral to be Held Saturday Morning at 8 O'clock at St. Francis Catholic Church

Joseph Rosko, Sr., passed away early Thursday morning, at the home of his son, Joseph, 1609 South Seventh street, following an attack of pneumonia.

Mr. Rosko was born in Poland, near the German border, in 1831. He grew to young manhood and was married there, emigrating with his wife and one child to the United States when 28 years old.

The family arrived in Chicago during the Civil War, in 1862, and after working in that city for two years, moved to Two Rivers, a settlement near St. Cloud, where Mr. Rosko took up a homestead.

It is interesting to note that he hauled supplies with an ox team for the building of the Northern Pacific railway, through Brainerd, and moved to this city in 1880, settling on a farm now in the city limits at the south end of Broadway where the family lived until ten years ago. Since that time he has lived with sons in and near Brainerd.

Mrs. Rosko preceded her husband in death eight years ago. Surviving are six sons and one daughter. They are, John Rosko, whose address is unknown, and who has not been heard from for several years; Jacob, farmer near Brainerd; Anthony, a farmer near Gull Lake, Sask., Canada; Joseph Rosko, Jr., employed at the local N. P. shops; Peter and Henry associated in the garage business in the city, and Mrs. Mary Hohn, of Seattle, Washington.

The body was prepared for burial by B. C. McNamara, and will be at the Joseph Rosko, Jr., home on South Seventh street. Services will be held from the home on Saturday morning at 7:30 o'clock, and from St. Francis Catholic church at 8 o'clock. Interment will be made in the family plot in Evergreen cemetery.

The sorrowing relatives have the sincere sympathy of the community in their sad bereavement.

A large shipment of shoes was received today from eastern factories, a much larger number than Mr. Ginsberg could possibly place in his shoe department.

Mr. Ginsberg has made a specialty of his shoe department, and has de-

REAL BASEBALL BACK, SCANDAL DIMMED

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)
New York, March 6.—With all of the major league teams at work in their southern training camps and the minors also preparing for the 1925 pennant races, baseball is back again with prominence in sporting chatter.
Even though it is quite apparent that the Dolan-O'Connell scandal has been dropped, there are enough indications of interest in the coming season to make it certain that scandal will not affect the popularity of the game.
There always may be a feeling perhaps that the real facts were not made known and that someone was behind Dolan and O'Connell in their attempt to bribe Heinie Sand, the Philadelphia shortstop, but it is not fair to entertain suspicions that there was any official attempt made to hide the guilty ones.
Commissioner Landis went as far as he could. Cozy Dolan wouldn't talk to him and he refused to remember anything when he was examined in the investigation conducted by the district attorney's office in New York. Dolan, it would seem from the developments in the two investigations, held the key to the solution of the case and as long as he refused to talk there could be no hope for a solution.
Among the ball players the belief is almost unanimous that it was a practical joke, although a very dangerous form of amusement. Fans, however, find it hard to believe that ball players would go to such hazardous limits for entertainment. It has been suggested that Sand was picked out because he was of the O'Connell unsophisticated type and they never thought that he would talk. If that is the case, practical jokers should pick their spots better in the future.
John A. Heydler, president of the National League, is one of those who ridiculed the idea that it was a joke. "Under the conditions and at that particular time, it hardly could have been meant as a joke," he said, commenting upon the case.
It is quite certain also, unless ball players are more thick above the eyebrows than they are generally rated, that Cozy Dolan and the other players involved would have said that it was a big joke before the scandal had been made public. The joke alibi came a little bit late to be taken.

PITCHER SHOCKER
FORMER CATCHER

YANKEE HURLER TRIED OUT AS BACKSTOP; THEN WENT UPON MOUND

Urban Shocker, former star pitcher of the St. Louis Browns, now a member of the Yankees, has been with only five clubs during his entire professional baseball career. Of these, three are minor league clubs, the others being the Browns and the Yankees.
He first signed with the Windsor club of the Border league in 1913 and while with that club during that season he won six games and lost seven.
In the following year he was bought by the Ottawa club of the Canadian league. Prior to his signing with the Windsor club Shocker had played with several semi-professional teams but as a catcher, not as a pitcher. He also desired to be a catcher when he started his professional career, but he soon became convinced that his talents could be better employed in the pitcher's box.
During 1914, his first year with the Ottawa team, Shocker won 20 and lost only eight, for a percentage of .714. He remained with the Ottawa team during most of the season of 1915 and won 19 games and lost 10 that year. Late in the season of 1915 he was sold to the Yankees for a price reported to have been $750.
While with the Yankees in 1916 Shocker won five games and lost two. He appeared in only 12 games while with the New York club that year. However, he was sent on an optional agreement to the Toronto club of the International league. He took part in 24 games while with the Canadian club and he scored 15 victories to three defeats.
Traded to Browns
As a member of the Yankees during the season of 1917 Shocker took part in a total of 26 games. He won eight contests and lost five and his average of earned runs allowed that year was 2.61. Early in 1918 Shocker was traded by the Yankees to the Browns. In exchange for Shocker and several other players, the Yankees received Second Baseman Derrill Pratt, who later played with the Boston Red Sox and Detroit Tigers, and Pitcher Ed Plank.
During the season of 1918, his first as a member of the St. Louis club, Shocker took part in only 14 games. He scored six victories against five defeats and his earned run average was 1.80. In 1919 he became one of the Browns' regular pitchers. During that season he won 14 games and lost 10 and took part in a total of 30 contests. His earned run average for that season was 2.69.

Stars in 1920
In 1920 Shocker continued to improve and he was soon recognized as one of the best pitchers in the two major leagues. During that season he took part in 33 games and scored 20 victories against 10 defeats. In the following year he won 27 games and lost 12. In 1922 he scored 24 victories against 17 defeats. In 1923 he won 20 games and lost 12, while last season he won 16 contests and lost 13.
Joe Bush, who went to the Browns in the trade that brought Shocker to the Yankees, will be pitching for his fourth major league club when he takes the mound for the St. Louis team next season. He has already been a member of the Athletics and Red Sox in addition to the Yankees.
Bush started his major league career with the Missoula club of the Union association back in 1912. He won 29 games and lost 12 while with that team during that season, and late in that campaign he was sold to the Athletics. He has remained in the American league ever since. While with the Philadelphia club during 1912 he took part in only three games and he scored one victory against no defeats.
In 1913 Bush became one of the Athletics' regular pitchers. He won a total of 13 games that year and lost only seven. In the following season he scored 16 victories to 12 defeats. In 1915 he had a poor season, winning only five games and losing 15. For the next two campaigns he also had averages of less than .500. In 1916 he won 15 games and lost 24, and in the next year he scored 11 victories against 17 defeats.—St. Paul Daily News.

Athletics Harmful Only
If Men Break Training
Too Suddenly, Is Claim

When athletic competition causes enlarged heart and other physical ills, it is the fault of the athletes or coaches concerned, according to Leader, the rowing mentor who has led Yale to world championship triumphs. In this week's issue of Liberty, he states that all such consequences can be avoided by proper care.
"If a man works into condition properly and goes off gradually, rowing is one of the best developers," is Leader's view. "But if he attempts hard rowing before he is in condition or if he tries to drop off condition quickly, the result, too often, is physical injury. It is almost as dangerous for a man to quit athletics suddenly as to attempt without training to engage in a hard contest.
"After a man has been in athletics for several years his heart has developed and become larger in proportion to his muscles. He should reduce the amount of exercise gradually, and should continue some form of physical exercise until his heart and body are in accord all the time, or he will have injurious effects, in the shape of fat or in some other form. His heart may be too strong for the body, unless its activities are reduced gradually.
"If you are in perfect condition and have worked up to it, you can stand anything, and rowing will be beneficial."

REAL BASEBALL BACK, SCANDAL DIMMED

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, March 6.—With all of the major league teams at work in their southern training camps and the minors also preparing for the 1925 pennant races, baseball is back again with prominence in sporting chatter.

Even though it is quite apparent that the Dolan-O'Connell scandal has been dropped, there are enough indications of interest in the coming season to make it certain that scandal will not affect the popularity of the game.

There always may be a feeling perhaps that the real facts were not made known and that someone was behind Dolan and O'Connell in their attempt to bribe Heinie Sand, the Philadelphia shortstop, but it is not fair to entertain suspicions that there was any official attempt made to hide the guilty ones.

Commissioner Landis went as far as he could. Cozy Dolan wouldn't talk to him and he refused to remember anything when he was examined in the investigation conducted by the district attorney's office in New York. Dolan it would seem from the developments in the two investigations, held the key to the solution of the case and as long as he refused to talk there could be no hope for a solution.

Among the ball players the belief is almost unanimous that it was a practical joke, although a very dangerous form of amusement. Fans, however, find it hard to believe that ball players would go to such hazardous limits for entertainment. It has been suggested that Sand was picked out because he was of the O'Connell unsophisticated type and they never thought that he would talk. If that is the case, practical jokers should pick their spots better in the future.

John A. Heydler, president of the National League, is one of those who ridiculed the idea that it was a joke. "Under the conditions and at that particular time, it hardly could have been meant as a joke," he said, commenting upon the case.

It is quite certain also, unless ball players are more thick above the eyebrows than they are generally rated, that Cozy Dolan and the other players involved would have said that it was a big joke before the scandal had been made public. The joke alibi came a little bit late to be taken.

PITCHER SHOCKER FORMER CATCHER

YANKEE HURLER TRIED OUT AS BACKSTOP; THEN WENT UPON MOUND

Urban Shocker, former star pitcher of the St. Louis Browns, now a member of the Yankees, has been with only five clubs during his entire professional baseball career. Of these three are minor league clubs, the others being the Browns and the Yankees.

He first signed with the Windsor club of the Border league in 1913 and while with that club during that season he won six games and lost seven.

In the following year he was bought by the Ottawa club of the Canadian league. Prior to his signing with the Windsor club Shocker had played with several semi-professional teams but as a catcher, not as a pitcher. He also desired to be a catcher when he started his professional career, but he soon became convinced that his talents could be better employed in the pitcher's box.

During 1914, his first year with the Ottawa team, Shocker won 20 and lost only eight, for a percentage of .714. He remained with the Ottawa team during most of the season of 1915 and won 19 games and lost 10 that year. Late in the season of 1915 he was sold to the Yankees for a price reported to have been $750.

While with the Yankees in 1917 Shocker won five games and lost two. He appeared in only 12 games while with the New York club that year. However, he was sent on an optional agreement to the Toronto club of the International league. He took part in 24 games while with the Canadian club and he scored 15 victories to three defeats.

Traded to Browns

As a member of the Yankees during the season of 1917 Shocker took part in a total of 26 games. He won eight contests and lost five and his average of earned runs allowed that year was 2.61. Early in 1918 Shocker was traded by the Yankees to the Browns. In exchange for Shocker and several other players, the Yankees received Second Baseman Derrill Pratt, who later played with the Boston Red Sox and Detroit Tigers, and Pitcher Ed Plank.

During the season of 1918, his first as a member of the St. Louis club, Shocker took part in only 14 games. He scored six victories against five defeats and his earned run average was 1.80. In 1919 he became one of the Browns' regular pitchers. During that season he won 14 games and lost 10 and took part in a total of 30 contests. His earned run average for that season was 2.69.

Stars in 1920

In 1920 Shocker continued to improve and he was soon recognized as one of the best pitchers in the two major leagues. During that season he took part in 33 games and scored 29 victories against 10 defeats. In the following year he won 27 games and lost 12. In 1922 he scored 24 victories against 17 defeats. In 1923 he won 20 games and lost 12, while last season he won 16 contests and lost 13.

Joe Bush, who went to the Browns in the trade that brought Shocker to the Yankees, will be pitching for his fourth major league club when he takes the mound for the St. Louis team next season. He has already been a member of the Athletics and Red Sox in addition to the Yankees.

Bush started his major league career with the Missoula club of the Union association back in 1912. He won 29 games and lost 12 while with that team during that season, and late in that campaign he was sold to the Athletics. He has remained in the American league ever since. While with the Philadelphia club during 1912 he took part in only three games and he scored one victory against no defeats.

STATE COMMITTEE SAYS COMPLAINT AGAINST PLAYER TOO LATE TO INVESTIGATE

Woock, star center of the Crosby-Ironton basketball team, has not been taken from the lineup, and will appear in the game tonight against Brainerd in the district tournament at Aitkin.

The state committee decided that the protest made against Woock came in too late for a complete investigation, it is reported, and although it was admitted that the case should be looked into, the committee felt that it was justified in letting the center continue in the tournament.

The Brainerd team plays its first game at 8 o'clock this evening against the Crosby-Ironton quint. The results of this game will be available at the local Y. M. C. A. just as fast as they come in, and it is expected that many fans who were unable to accompany the home team will be at the Y to receive these returns.

Distress After Eating

Such as gasiness, bloating, belching, sour risings, heartburn and heaviness due to indigestion.

ANEOLA ROOT
Sweetens the stomach, takes up the sour accumulations, stimulates proper secretions, gives the stomach a tone, and removes gas from food that presses on the heart. If food does not digest, it turns into poisons which form gas. Anecola Root removes foul decaying matter you never thought was in your system. It restores the functions of the stomach and removes the nervous feeling. An excellent guard against appendicitis. For sale by Johnson's Pharmacy and Economy Drug Co.—Advt.
